DEATH LIST IS 13

H. Hall, F. F. Miller and Carl Johnson, were added to the list of dead last night. Great Bend went rapidly about the task of straightening up to day. Most of the streets were opened through the stricken district and much debris left by the storm was cleared away.

Water is expected through the Water is expected through the mains sometime today. Both the Santa Fe pumping station and creamery pumps have been connected with the water plant and usable quantities of water are expected. Electric light was furnished for the hospital in which the most scriously injured are being treated, by attaching a hay press to a dynamo. Enough power was generated to supply the one building. Several injured are yet in danger, it was said today.

Many Towns Suffered.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 12.—The death toll of the storm which swept over Kansas Wednesday night, today stands at 13. The increase over yesterday's list was caused by the death of four persons in Great Bend, of injuries received in the storm.

Communication to all but a few outlying sections of the stricken district was established late Thursday. Although the damage was greater in Great Bend, where a path three blocks wide through the industrial and residential sections of the city was cut by Great Bend is carrying water, burning candles, and doing without the many necessities dependent on electricity. Although the water and electric light plants looked a hopeless wreck this morning, before dark both Pearson, superintendent of the Kansas City, Kan., schools, was the only nomine from the Second district. Miss Carrie Stradal, of Trego county, had no opposition in the Sixth district. In the Fourth district there are three candidates: W. H. Carothers, of Emporia; Mrs. Grace D. Wills, county superintendent of Chase county, and Miss Nellie Shultz, of Eureka, one of the prominent teachers in the district. I. C. Mayer of McPherson, John Lofty of Wichita and Mrs. Ola Raymond of Newton are the candidates from the Eighth district.

Away From Politics.

Legislation reorganizing the state department of education so that the election of the state superintendent of public instruction and of the county superintendents may be removed from the influence of partisan poli-tics was urged in the report of the committees on resolutions presented at the annual convention of the organization here today by F. J. Pinet, of Parsons, chairman. Other changes of Parsons, chairman. Other changes in the present common school system of Kansas urged were the adoption of the county unit in school taxation, the enactment of a law establishing a library in each school district to be provided for out of the general school fund of the district and more strict enforcement of the laws pertaining to children, particularly those of compulsory education and which restrict the places and hours of their labor and prohibit the use of tobacco.

One of the best parts of the exhibit and the one which best illustrates the new method is a set of dolls, representing Lord Baltimore, John Allen, Martha Washington, and others. They are dressed in exactly the kinds of clothes that they really wore, which are made by high school students after an exhaustive study of the particular time that they represent sory education and which restrict the places and hours of their labor and prohibit the use of tobacco.
